

Rameshji Bhutada of Houston honored

Rameshji Bhutada of Sugar Land, Texas was recently recognized by the Indo-American Chamber of Commerce of Greater Houston as a “pioneer” businessman who built a multi-million dollar enterprise over the past 25 years.

A pioneer in philanthropy, he is also known to bring together seemingly disparate business and bottom line in the same sentence with compassion and community service.

“I believe the award is mainly for the team, not for an individual. I just happen to be a representative of the team. I feel good that the team has been recognized. We are very fortunate to have a good team in Star Pipe,” Rameshji says.

Community service is not just a part of the family’s value but also core business philosophy at Star Pipe Products which he created in 1980.

Maheshwari Mahasabha of North America is proud to have the Bhutada family as a member and supporter of this organization.

Quote of the month:

“Let us remember that, as much has been given us, much will be expected from us, and that true homage comes from the heart as well as from the lips, and shows itself in deeds.”

~Theodore Roosevelt
